Deborah Crowe is an artist living and working in Auckland, New Zealand. She is also a Senior Lecturer at Manukau School of Visual Arts. Crowe’s repetitive process-orientated practice often refers to the grid, a sense of order and planning systems associated with woven construction. The drawings on the following pages were conducted in 2008.